Description

This magnificent 19th century Chateau nestled in the heart of the picturesque stone village of Rubelles, was built approximately in 1860 by the same Architect who conceived "La Gare de l'Est" in Paris. Chateau St Paul is very close to the towns of Melun and Fontainebleau in the Seine and Marne district of France and less than 32 miles south east of Paris. Two highways easily connect the Chateau to the capital and its two International Airports: Orly, thirty-five minutes and Roissy Charles De Gaulle just one hour away. Direct and RER trains (from Melun) link it to the Gare de Lyon and Gare du Nord in Paris for TGV and Eurostar connections, offering a very easy access to London, Bruxelles, Geneva, Marseilles, and Nice. The famous town of Fontainebleau with its "Grand Chateau", the sporting lodge of the Kings of France, is approximately ten miles south-west of Rubelles. The entire area benefits from sixty-thousand plus acres of forest which has remained untouched for several hundreds of years and has become a green belt zone which allows excellent hiking, climbing, horse riding and biking. Approximately thirty miles north-east from the famous "Champagne" country, Rubelles is located in the heart of the world famous area where "Brie" cheese is produced. Chateau St Paul is surrounded by its own walls and a 9 acres park planted with fine plants and trees some of which are over one hundred years old. The house is comprised of three distinct buildings. All residences are very well maintained, have been redecorated with the finest materials and are in perfect move in conditions. Each one is fully equipped with oil, or central gas and wood burning heating. The Park has electricity and lighting throughout and its watering system is linked to a borehole pump. It also features two ponds, a well and two huge green houses. Chateau St Paul's proximity to Paris offers the amazing and unique opportunity of combining its magical country settings with the most exciting city living.
